

School of Speech, Language, and Hearing Sciences
College of Health and Human Services
5500 Campanile Drive
San Diego, CA 92182-1518

Associate Professor: Brain-based Disorders and Neuroplasticity

San Diego State University invites applications for a tenure-track faculty position in the School of Speech, Language, and Hearing Sciences. A Ph.D. in Communication Sciences and Disorders, Linguistics, Psychology, Neurosciences or a related field, excellence in teaching, strong research abilities, and a commitment to working in a multi-cultural environment with students from diverse backgrounds are required. Primary responsibilities include teaching at the undergraduate and graduate (MA and Ph.D.) levels, supervising theses/dissertations and pursuing a research program in the area of brain-based speech, language, or cognitive disorders, and neuroplasticity.

The position is offered in the context of our newly approved Area of Excellence in Clinical and Cognitive Neuroscience at San Diego State University that is designed to enhance existing research strengths through cluster hires. This new program currently involves the School of Speech, Language and Hearing Sciences (SLHS) and the Department of Psychology; the home department for this position will be in SLHS.

We are seeking a person with expertise in research with brain-based speech, language, or cognitive processing disorders, and neuroplasticity, with adult and/or child populations. Additional areas of expertise or focus may include recovery of function, and treatment approaches. Salary and rank will be dependent on candidate's qualifications and budget considerations.

Join 18 other full-time faculty and over 200 students in a stimulating work environment, excellent lab/clinical facilities, and a beautiful place to live (see more information at <http://slhs.sdsu.edu>).

SDSU is a large, diverse, urban university and Hispanic-Serving Institution with a commitment to diversity, equity, and inclusive excellence. Our campus community is diverse in many ways, including race, religion, color, sex, age, disability, marital status, sexual orientation, gender identity and expression, national origin, pregnancy, medical condition, and covered veteran status. We strive to build and sustain a welcoming environment for all. SDSU is seeking applicants with demonstrated experience in and/or commitment to teaching and working effectively with individuals from diverse backgrounds and members of underrepresented groups.

Apply via Interfolio at <http://apply.interfolio.com/25819>. Review of completed applications will begin December 1, 2014 and continue until the position is filled; employment to begin Fall semester 2015. For questions, please contact Dr. Tracy Love (tracy.love@sdsu.edu).

The person holding this position is considered a "mandated reporter" under the California Child Abuse and Neglect Reporting Act and is required to comply with the requirement set forth in CSU Executive Order 1083 as a condition of employment.

San Diego State University is an equal opportunity employer and does not discriminate against persons on the basis of race, religion, national origin, sexual orientation, gender, gender identity and expression, marital status, age, disability, pregnancy, medical condition, or covered veteran status.